Kris, When I was raising my kids, it was always a good day when you arrived to play with them. So many precious memories of you as a child and through the years. In more recent years, we all were happy when we talked with you by phone and could catch up. It was a difficult time when your mom was sick and in the hospital. But it was so meaningful to spend time with you on the phone during that sorrowful time. Now you are with your mom and dad and I know you are so joyful. Praying for peace for Lisa, Randy and all your family. I will love you forever.
