“ Our sympathy goes out to the family of Vann Walker. Some of our fondest memories were those shared in earlier years while growing up in "small town" Madisonville. We enjoyed school years and going to church activities together, and just being friends. Many people thought the "Walkers" were all the same family, and actually we were in our hearts and minds. In my experience, Vann was a good husband and father, and he will be missed, however we believe that there will be another reunion some day in the future life. To Belva, Shane, and Sean, may God bless you through these difficult days.

“ Vann, Jr. was the postmaster when I started working at the Madisonville Post Office. He was the leader of "our gang". I remember we used to tease him and tell him he spent more time at Belva's beauty shop than he did in the post office. He was easy going and we all had a good time while getting the job done. He was always nice to me and if he left the post office, we knew we could find him at Belva's shop or fishing somewhere! Good old days, indeed! Prayers for the family as they go through this difficult time!
